TODAY'S PROGRAM

Bob Morgan, President, Charlotte Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Morgan spoke volumes about Charlotte businesses and industry, and something of how certain incentives work to bring new ones here.

He also pointed out a common misconception: that very little manufacturing remains in Charlotte. To dispell this notion, he suggested a drive out Westinghouse Boulevard between Interstate-77 and South Tryon Street.

MEMBER NUMBERS

Kiwanis ID: Kiwanis International began assigning member numbers several years ago. Each member gets a unique number, which identifies that member and that member only. It stays with a member forever, even if he/she leaves and later returns to membership. It will never be reassigned to another member. It started as a six-digit number, was soon expanded to nine digits, and has now been expanded further - this time to twelve digits. In the case of Mecklenburg members, the recent change has been made by simply adding three zeros in front of the old number. Thus if your number was something like "001254902" it is now "000001254902."

Club Mbr. No.: This was a purely local identifier for Mecklenburg members only. I assigned it simply as an aid in organizing and indexing my computer databases. I am no longer using it, and have removed all such references in my databases, forms, and reports.

NEW MEMBERS INDUCTED

WELCOME:

L to R: Tom Hamilton, Candi Knudsen, Chris Needham

OBJECTS? OBJECTIVES?

Frequent use of these words has resulted in considerable confusion.

The OBJECTS of Kiwanis are the six beautifully written and Inspired statements of the purposes of Kiwanis. They were adopted at the 1924 International Convention in Denver, Colorado and have never been changed in any way.

OBJECTIVES are brief statements of current concerns, formulated by the International Board, which are intended to guide Kiwanis Clubs in developing programs and activities that meet current needs or conditions.

MORE POINTS TO PONDER FOR 2010:

40. Opportunity may knock once; but temptation bangs on the front door forever.

41. Some minds are like concrete: thoroughly mixed up and permanently set.

----To be Continued

Meets 12:00 Noon, 1st & 3rd Mondays: Crowne Plaza Charlotte Hotel - 201 S. McDowell St.
